

MINISTERS RAISING SMALL FAMILIES

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Clergymen no longer have large families, the members of the Neo Malthusian Birth Control society were told today by Professor MacBride at their conference. Thirty years ago the clergy were reckoned among the most prolific members of the community, and rightly regarded as breeders of talent, but today road sweepers, dock laborers and people of that class indulge in large families while clerical families consist of only one or two children. The professor declared also that except species of animal and plant, it allowed to exercise unchecked its natural powers of reproduction, would in a few years completely overgrow the earth and crush out other forms of life.

CHIEF SMITH ANSWERS NUMEROUS ACCUSERS

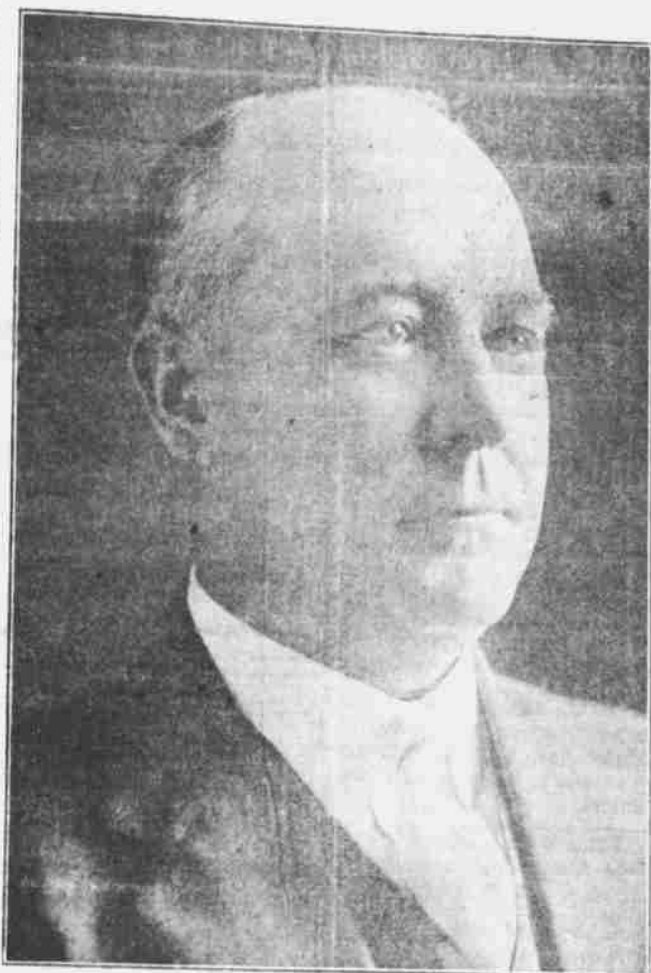

This letter is intended as a campaign statement, a defy to lying scandal mongers and an offer of reward to anyone possessing evidence of the guilt of the undersigned.

It has come to the attention of my many friends and to myself that a lady, a female member of the present grand jury, in an over-zealous endeavor to assist a brother judge member, is circulating among the members of this community information that the chief of police of Tonopah has taken upon himself to bring before the clerk of registration persons not eligible for registration and that he is permitting the selling of liquor to minors, adding to this last accusation the statement that she knows that he was present when liquor was sold to boys of 14 years of age. If the above is true, why does this female member of the grand jury so far violate her sworn duty and fail to bring these flagrant shortcomings of the chief of police to the attention of the grand jury as a body and seek to properly indict an offender that obviously could be convicted and removed from office. If any one of the three counts can be proved? Let it be made plain that the chief of police is not engaged in the sale of liquor or in the manufacture of implements used in its making, either directly or indirectly, nor has he ever given orders to his officers to permit its sale by some and denied that right to others; nor has he ever intimated to anyone that any illicit or illegal act would be condoned by him. In short he is not grafting either directly or indirectly, therefore is free to offer as an inducement to this female member of the grand jury or to any other lying scandal monger, a reward for his conviction on any one of the above counts in the amount of $500.00. Here is some easy money for the well informed buck pass, ing type of citizens. There is another false tale of my conviction on the charge of rape and murder, the above reward will be paid to anyone who can prove this myth. Also, I am accused of striking certain citizens without just provocation. For everyone so struck, the above amount will be paid to the party making the proper showing that I even provoked the issue. In this connection let it be known that I intend to defend myself against any and all charges, that I will not permit any drunk or disorderly person to direct vile names at me or my officers.

Then again, another element of knocker, knows that I am a company man, meaning, I suppose, that I am a tool of the companies. This too, I can deny with that same firm knowledge on my part that there is not one scintilla of truth in the affirmation. My statement in this connection is a frank explanation of my position with regards to the duties imposed upon me as constable and chief of police.

Everyone should know that it is an officer's duty to impartially enforce the law, he cannot take sides in any dispute, nor can he assume to know the final right of any question affecting employer or employee, his personal feelings to the contrary notwithstanding, nor will he attempt interpretation of the right or the wrong of any law, his sole duty is to enforce existing laws. Good citizens will all concede this and to them I frankly pledge myself to do right as it is given me to see the right with equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Respectfully,
O. H. SMITH,
Incumbent and candidate for constable of Tonopah Township.
